LEARNING
INITIATIVE

WHAT IS EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING?

Experiential learning is incredibly valuable to students who wish to gain real-world and applicable experience that is not always gained in a traditional classroom setting. Students leave these classes with heightened confidence and experience working with clients and partners on real projects and providing real solutions.

THE EDWARDS INITIATIVE

At the undergraduate level, Edwards School of Business offers a variety of experiential learning courses and initiatives. These enable students to reach their full potential and learn beyond the classroom, while partner organizations can gain assistance regarding various aspects of their business.

Experiential learning courses require client/partner involvement and create opportunities for students to use their skills, experience, and resources when assisting clients with project needs or by providing a meaningful service. Over the past several years, Edwards has partnered with many organizations on experiential learning projects including large corporations, small businesses, cooperatives, and not-for-profits. Our areas of focus include:

Don't see what you're looking for? Contact us to see how we can be of assistance.

AROUND THE COMMUNITY

"I have recommended, and will continue to recommend, this [experiential learning practicum] opportunity to other non-profits in the community."

-Mentor, 2014-15, Governance and Leadership Course

"Comm 448 is a great way to gain truly valuable real world experience. It allowed me to build and improve my skills when dealing with an actual client, which in turn will benefit my future professional career."

-Student, 2015-16, Management Consulting Course

PARTNERS IN LEARNING

Student benefits:

- Enhanced understanding of B.Comm. course work
- Ability to partner with, contribute to, and learn from the business community
- Networking opportunities and potential to create connections for full-time employment after graduation

Partner benefits:

- Shape the next generation of business leaders and develop meaningful connections with students
- Evaluate potential future employees through projects and short-term assignments
- Create brand-awareness and discussion of your organization in the classroom

COLLABORATE WITH US TODAY

At Edwards School of Business, we believe business education should be more than attending lectures and writing tests or final exams. We make sure our students gain both the theoretical knowledge and practical experience to give them a competitive advantage, strengthen their employability, and inspire them to contribute to their communities.

Edwards has developed projects with employers of all sizes as well as with partners on campus. Experience for yourself all that the Edwards School of Business has to offer.
